Lisa Kattan serves as Baker Botts' International Trade Commission Practice Group Chair. Before joining the firm in 2016, she served as Senior Investigative Attorney at the International Trade Commission (ITC) Office of Unfair Import Investigations for over five years.

At the ITC, Ms. Kattan's responsibilities included serving as lead trial counsel on behalf of the U.S. Government in numerous high-profile investigations, involving hundreds of millions of dollars of accused products. In this role, Ms. Kattan evaluated the merits of patent infringement claims and defenses, developed claim constructions, investigated public interest issues, and ensured compliance with agency regulations, in cases ranging from medical devices to the smartphone wars. Ms. Kattan is a registered patent attorney, and a frequent speaker on ITC developments and patent litigation best practices.
